Before you start

Look at the photographs and answer the questions in pairs.

- 1 What can you see in the photographs?
- 2 What are the different people trying to do?

Vocabulary

1 Look at the words and phrases in the box and answer the questions.

> breathe emergency services first aid _danger_ respond

- 1 Which word means the possibility of being hurt or killed? danaer
- 2 Which word describes taking air in and out of your body?
- 3 Which word describes doing something when someone talks to you?
- 4 Which phrase describes the people who come to help you very quickly?
- 5 Which phrase means something you do to help someone take air in and out of their body?
- 6 Which phrase means basic medical help given quickly?

Listening

- 2 Listen to a nurse telling people how to give first aid and answer the questions.
  - 1 What situation is the nurse describing?
  - 2 What advice can the emergency services give to help someone breathe again?
- 2 Listen again and put the things that the nurse describes (a-f) in the correct order.
  - a Shout "Hello!" or "wake up" at the person.
    - b Move the person away from any dangers.
    - c Check if the person is breathing. d Do CPR if the person isn't breathing.
  - e Check if there are any dangers nearby.
  - f Call the emergency services.

Speaking

Discuss in pairs. What can you do to help someone? Would you like to learn first aid? Why/Why not?

Yes. I can clean a cut.

5 Read two examples of research into hygiene. What are the two reports trying to say?

Α

Dangerous Trousers!

Research has shown that you should only wear a pair of trousers for one day. Bacteria can grow quickly in your trousers, so it's a bad idea to wear them for more than one day.

6 Do you believe the reports? Why/Why not?

Reading

- 7 Read the advice about interpreting research. What is it warning us about?
- 8 Read the article again and correct these statements.
  - 1 You can find hundreds of articles and blogs online.
  - 2 You shouldn't ask if the information is true.
  - 3 Ask your teacher if the report is surprising.
  - 4 You should only look at one report on a website to decide if it's true.

Always wash your hands!

Research has shown that people who wash their hands every time they come home from outside don't become ill as often as people who don't.

Interpreting research

There is so much information available today. You can find thousands of articles and blog posts online. However, not all of the information you read is correct, so it's a good idea to question it. Ask yourself these questions:

- Is there anything unusual or surprising in the report?
- When was the report written?
- Who wrote the report? Is it someone who would know a lot about the subject?
- If the report is online, who does the website belong to and what other information is on it?
- If the report is online, do you trust the websites that the links take you to?

O Discuss these questions in pairs.

- 1 Which things should you do when you read any research?
- 2 What does this article add to your knowledge?

SKILLS FOR LIFE

When you read reports about scientific research, always try to find other research on the same topic. Do other scientists agree?

Before you start

Discuss the following question in pairs.

1 What do you do to help keep your home clean?

Reading

- 1 Read the leaflet about hygiene at home quickly. Which DOs and DON'Ts are only for inside a house or flat?
- 2 Read the leaflet again. Are these sentences true (T) or false (F)?
  - The bottoms of your shoes don't usually have a lot of bacteria on them.
     Cleaning dust helps you to avoid breathing and skin problems.
  - 3 If you drop food or drinks on your floor, it's easier for bacteria to live on it.
  - 4 You shouldn't change your bedding more than once every two weeks.
  - 5 It's important to wash your hands after you've touched your pets.
  - 6 You should always wash your hands before you start gardening.
  - 7 You should leave your bin open so bacteria can go into it.

Speaking

- 3 Discuss these questions in pairs.
  - 1 Do you already follow any of the seven DOs and DON'Ts?
  - 2 Which of the seven DOs and DON'Ts do you want to start doing? Why?
  - 3 What are the other DOs and DON'Ts that you can suggest?
  - 4 Do you follow any other hygiene rules?

Hygiene at home: Seven DOs and DON'Ts for a healthy life

1 Take your shoes off

The bottoms of your shoes can carry a lot of bacteria into you house. You should always take your shoes off at the door.

2 No more dust

Dust quickly comes back again after you've cleaned. However, dust can make it diffucult to breathe and it can cause skin problems. You should clean your house or flat as often as you can.

3 Wash the kitchen floor

Food and drinks can easily fall on the kitchen floor. You should clean your kitchen floor at least once a week. You should use warm, soapy water so you can remove all the bacteria.

4 Change your bedding

F

We spend a lot of our time asleep in bed. You should change your bedding at least once every week so bacteria can't live in it.

5 Wash your hands after spending time with your pets

Research has shown that contact with pets early in life can protect you against allergies. But animals can also carry bacteria. If you touch your pet, you shouldn't touch anything else until you've washed your hands.

6 Stay clean in the garden

You should wear gloves if you're going to touch soil in the garden because it can contain bacteria. You should wash your hands when you've finished gardening, too.

7 Don't forget to keep your bins clean

A lot of bacteria can grow in your bin. You shouldn't leave your bin open.

Hygiene rules around the world

In the UK, you must put your food waste in a separate bin.

In Thailand, you must take your shoes off before going into someone's house.

In the USA, you should offer to help clean up after dinner at a friend's house.

Language

I think you should keep a person still if he or she has broken his or her arm.

Chapter 7

Jim Hawkins:

I walked with Ben Gun and we soon saw the fort.

"Your friends will be inside, Jim," said Ben.

"It might be the pirates," I replied.

"No, look at the flag! They will be good men," he answered. "The fort was made by Flint. He was a clever man and he wasn't frightened of anyone, except Silver."

"Let's go inside," I said.

"I can't go in there," Gun replied. "I don't trust anyone. I'll wait for you. Remember what I told you. I can help you. Come and find me tomorrow."

Before I could go to the fort, there was the sound of more gun fire and I had to hide so I wouldn't be hit. From the trees where I waited, I could now see the Hispaniola. It was also flying a flag, but it was the black pirate's flag.

When it was nearly dark, I walked round to the back of the fort and called out. The door opened, and Dr Livesy let me inside.

I sat down and told them my story. The wind blew sand inside the fort and we found it everywhere, in our clothes, in our food and in our eyes. There was a fire to keep us warm, but the room was also full of smoke and we all coughed.

Captain Smollett gave us all jobs: some looked for firewood, others went to cook food, and I was asked to guard the door. He kept us all busy, and that made us all feel better.

"Captain Smollett is a good man," said Dr Livesy later that day. "And what about Ben Gun? Is he a good man?"

"I don't know," I answered. "I think he's a little crazy."

"Any man on an island for three years will be a bit crazy," explained the doctor.

"Did you say that he wanted some good food?"
"Yes," I replied.

"I've brought some cheese with me on this journey. Let's give it to Ben Gun!" said the doctor.

That evening, the men talked about how little food we had. We hoped that the pirates would leave the island with the Hispaniola. The doctor said that they would become ill if they slept outside on the island for long. And if the pirates left, we could wait until help arrived.

I slept very well that night. The next morning, a voice woke me up. I heard someone say, "Some pirates are coming to the fort with a white flag. Look, it's Silver! He wants a truce!"

I got up and looked from the fort. It was a cold morning, and although it was sunny, there was a low mist. We could only see the head of Silver and another pirate.

"Stay in the fort," said Captain Smollett. "I'm sure that this is a trick." Then he called out to Silver, "Tell us what you want."

"I want a truce," said Silver.

Captain Smollett quietly told us to move to different corners of the fort and to watch Silver carefully. Then he called to Silver, "What do you want us to do?"

"Come to my ship and we can talk about how to get home," said Silver.

"Your ship? I didn't know you had a ship here," replied Captain Smollett.

"Well, the crew chose me to be their captain after you left the ship," said Silver.

"If you have something to say, you can come into the fort and say it," said Captain Smollett.

The other pirate tried to stop Silver, but he laughed and walked quickly towards the fort. He climbed over one of the fences and walked slowly up the hill. Soon he was standing in front of Captain Smollett, who was waiting for him outside the door to the fort.

"Can't I come inside?" asked Silver. "It's a cold morning."

"If you were an honest man, you could come inside," said Captain Smollett. "But are you my ship's cook, who I looked after, or Captain Silver, a pirate?"

"OK, we can stay here," said Silver, sitting down on the sand. "You've got a nice place here. Look, there's Jim! Good morning."

"If you have anything to say, say it now," said Captain Smollett.

"Captain, we want the treasure, and we're going to find it. However, I think you all want to leave the island safely. You have the map, don't you?" asked Silver.

"Perhaps," said Captain Smollett.

"I know you have it," said Silver. "We don't want to hurt you. Give us the map and then we will take you home on the ship. We'll take you somewhere safe. Or, if you prefer, we'll leave you some supplies and you can stay on the island. Then we can ask another ship to come and take you home. It's a kind offer, and I hope you all want to take it." He said this last part loudly, so that we could all hear in the fort.

"Is that all you can offer?" said Captain Smollett.

"It is, and if you don't accept my offer, all you will hear from me is the sound of guns!"

"Now you can listen to me," replied Captain Smollett. "If you come up to the fort, one by one, without any guns, I'll put you all in chains and take you back to England for trial. If you don't, you'll have problems. You can't find the treasure. You don't have enough men to sail the ship, and you can't fight us here in the fort."

Silver looked very angry. "This will not end well for any of you," he said, and then he walked slowly back down the hill.

Captain Smollett came back into the fort and said to us, "He'll be back in an hour to attack us. There are more of them than us, but we have the advantage inside the fort, and I am sure that we can win."

  - 1 There were good men on the Hispaniola.

    There were pirates on the ship.

    F
  - 2 Jim waited until it was nearly dark before he went into the fort.
  - The fort was full of sand and smoke.
  - 4 The men in the fort had nothing to do.
  - 5 In the morning, they could only see the head of Silver and one other pirate because they were hiding.
  - 6 Silver was not happy when he left the fort.

Read these quotations and answer the questions.

- 1 "Any man on an island for three years will be a bit crazy."
  - What man does Dr Livesy talk about? Why would that man be crazy?
- 2 "He was a clever man and he wasn't frightened of anyone, except Silver."
  Who does Ben mean by 'He'?

Why do you think this person was frightened of Silver?

- What does this statement tell you about Silver?
- 3 "If you come up to the fort, one by one, without any guns, I'll put you all in chains and take you back to England for trial."

Why would Captain Smollett take them all to trial?

If you were in his place, would you do the same? Why?

What does this tell you about Captain Smollett's character?

- 4 Work in pairs. Discuss and answer these questions.
  - 1 Why did Silver arrive at the fort with a white flag?
  - 2 Why didn't Captain Smollett allow Silver to enter the fort?
  - 3 What did Silver want the men in the fort to do?
  - 4 Why did Captain Smollett refuse Silver's offer to leave them with some supplies?
  - 5 What did Silver do next?

Reading

Read three online posts about technology. Write the names of the inventions next to the sentences that describe them.

GPS Hybrid vehicles The internet

- The internet This is the most useful invention if you need help with your school work.
- This is the most useful invention if you don't know how to find a place.
- 3 This invention uses both petrol and electricity to drive the engine.

What is the best invention that we have today and why is it so great? Please leave your comments below.

Baher 12 minutes ago

The internet is the best invention that we have today. You can find information about anything you're interested in. It's really useful if you need to find out something for a school project, for example. I'd never be able to do my homework without it! The internet also makes life easier in your free time. You can buy anything you want online with a click of a button. You can also communicate with your friends easily, even if they live abroad.

Khadeeja 23 minutes ago

In my opinion, GPS (Global Positioning System) is the best invention. GPS helps you to navigate your journey from one place to another. You can use it when you visit a town that you aren't familiar with. In the past, people needed maps to get around, but GPS is more useful because it just tells you what to do. If you don't know how to get somewhere, the technology will tell you exactly where to go.

Rami 40 minutes ago

Most cars, buses and other vehicles need petrol, but petrol is becoming more expensive. What would we do if we didn't have petrol? Fortunately, we now have hybrid vehicles. Hybrid vehicles use both petrol and electricity to drive the engine. For this reason, the vehicle uses a lot less petrol. There are also cars that are only electric. At the moment, they cannot go long distances, although they are useful to travel short distances, like to school or to the shops.

7 Find these phrasal verbs in the online posts and match them with their meanings.

1 find out

leave your home to do something fun with other people

2 get around learn something that you didn't know before travel from place to place

Speaking

3 go out

5 Answer the questions in Exercise 4 for the invention that you chose in Exercise 3.

WORKBOOK PAGE 92

I have chosen the robot as the best invention. A robot is a machine that is controlled by a computer.

Robots can do some of the things that people can do, like cleaning or putting parts together in a car factory. We have had robots for a long time, but today robots can do a lot more things than robots could do in the past.

In my opinion, the robot is the best invention because it makes people's lives easier and it helps companies to save money when they make things like cars.

Before you start

Look at the photographs and answer the questions in pairs.

- 1 What inventions can you see in the photographs?
- 2 Which is the most important for you? Why?

Language

- 1 Underline the verbs that follow if in these sentences. Then circle the verbs in the other clauses.
  - 1 If I don't know how to get somewhere, luse GPS.
  - 2 If I need to send an email, I'll use my phone.
  - 3 If I broke my computer, I'd buy another one quickly.

2 Look at the sentences in Exercise 1 and discuss these questions in pairs.

- 1 Which sentence is about ...
  - ... something that always happens?
  - ... something that is possible in the future?
  - ... something that is unlikely in the future?
- 2 Which verb tenses are used in each sentence?
- 3 What is I'd short for in sentence 3?

LANGUAGE

LANGUAGE REVIEW PAGE 78

Zero, first and second conditionals

Zero conditional

 Use the zero conditional to talk about facts and actions that are usually true:
 If I need help with a school project I look online. It is my habit.
 If you boil water, it changes into steam.

First conditional

 Use the first conditional to talk about things that we think are possible or probable in the future:
 If I need help with our project, I'll call you.

Second conditional

- Use the second conditional to talk about events that are possible but unlikely to happen:
  - If I got a bad grade for this project, I would be really unhappy.
- Use the second conditional to talk about indirect advice:
  - If I were you, I'd read this book.

3 Choose the correct verbs in these sentences.

- 1 If I had to get around without a car or bike, it will be would be really difficult.
- 2 If I used that app on my phone, it will be / would be easy to find places.
- 3 If you give me your email address, I will send / would send you the information this evening.
- 4 I'll help you to fix your computer if you tell / will tell me what's wrong with it.
- 5 I wouldn't be able to talk to my grandparents so often if we don't have / didn't have the internet at home.

Speaking

Discuss these questions in pairs.

1 If you needed to find information about a new film, how would you get it?

2 What will you do if you have some free time this weekend?

3 What would you do if you couldn't use the internet ever again?

5 Work in pairs. Read the statement in the box. Do you agree or disagree with it? Why/Why not?

The internet might be the best invention we have, but it has also caused a lot of problems.

Listening

- 6 Listen to Ahmed and Mustafa discussing the causes and results of the invention of the internet.
  - 1 Do the speakers agree with the statement in Exercise 5?
  - 2 Do you agree with Ahmed or Mustafa? Why/Why not?
- 7 Listen again and tick (
  ) the phrases you hear.

Discussing causes and results

- a The reason that we have ... is so that ...
- b Although we need ... it can lead to ...
- c The problem with ... is that ...
- d Perhaps we should/shouldn't ...
- e One day, we will all be able to ...

9 Use the phrases in Exercise 8 to write about another invention.

Before you start

In groups, brainstorm the ways that technology can help people to learn.

How can technology help us to learn?

It can help people who do not live near a school.

Vocabulary

- 1 Choose the correct meaning of these words. Use your dictionary to check the meaning.
  - 1 a translation (a) words changed into another language
    - b a new type of technology
  - a software on your smartphone
    - b a test of how much you have learned
  - a people learning together online
    - b questions to find out how much you know
  - 4 to chat a to look at something new
    - b to communicate with other people online
  - 5 feedback a information about how well or badly you did something
    - b information about how much something costs

Listening

- Listen to Amal and Hana discussing how technology helps people to learn. Tick (🗸) the ideas they mention that you thought of in the brainstorm exercise.
- 3 Listen again. Are these sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false sentences.
  - 2 Hana thinks that technology can help us to use the things that we learn.
  - 2 Fland thinks that teermology earl help as to use the thinks that we learn.
  - 3 Amal thinks language apps are useful because they can help us to remember words.
  - 4 Amal says that apps can't help us to improve the way we write.

1 Amal thinks that technology can help us to understand texts.

- 5 Hana prefers to write things down when she's learning something.
- 6 Amal likes learning online because she doesn't have to travel a long way from home.

Speaking

- 1 In your opinion, how useful is technology when you are learning something?
- 2 How do you (or can you) use technology to help you learn English? Think of one tip for using technology to help you to learn English and tell your partner.

Before you start

Discuss these questions in pairs.

- 1 What is your favourite technological device: computer, GPS, phone, tablet, transport, TV or something else?
- 2 What is the most popular technology in your class? Work in pairs and make a chart to show your results.

Reading

- 1 Read the comments two Egyptian students wrote about the advantages and disadvantages of technology. Then answer the questions below.
  - 1 Who thinks that technology is always good?
  - 2 Who thinks that technology is only good sometimes?

I like technology a lot and I use it every day. It helps me find information for my school work and I can buy things easily online. But technology isn't always a good thing. It can lead to a lot of stress and it can stop people enjoying their free time. Karim

I don't know what I would do without technology! It makes life easier and you can do things so much faster. And how would we travel without technology? You can travel from Cairo to London in just five hours in a plane!

2 Read the comments again. Find three advantages and two disadvantages in the two comments above and then write them in the table below.

SKILLS FOR LIFE

Think about the opinions of other people. With things like technology, it's easy to see the advantages.

However, most things aren't completely good or completely bad.

Technology may be good for some people in the world, but bad for others. Thinking about other people's opinions helps to give us a better understanding.

Chapter 8

Jim Hawkins:

We prepared our weapons and the captain told us what to do.

"Doctor, you stay by the door. Hunter, stay at the east of the fort. Joyce can stand at the west. Gray and Trelawney will stay at the north. If the pirates get inside the north of the fort, we're in trouble."

After an hour, Joyce said that he saw someone coming. We all looked and listened, and we got our weapons ready. Suddenly, Joyce fired his gun. Then, we heard guns firing at us from all sides of the fort. There was a lot of noise and smoke, but nobody was hurt. Then everything went quiet again.

"Did you hit anyone?" the captain asked Joyce.

"I don't think so," he replied.

"How many people fired on your side, Doctor?" asked Captain Smollett.

"There were three," he replied.

"How many on your side, Trelawney?"

Trelawney and Gray were not sure. They thought seven, eight or nine. There was only one shot fired from the east and west. So, we knew that the pirates wanted to attack mostly from the north. But Captain Smollett told us to stay where we were.

We didn't have much time to talk. A group of pirates ran from the trees towards the north of the fort, and their guns started firing again.

Some of the pirates tried to climb the fence, but Joyce shot two of them and one ran back to the trees. However, four were now inside the fences and seven more continued to fire at us from the trees.

Our men fired at the four pirates, but did not hit them. They were now running up the hill to the fort, and one of them climbed up and took Hunter's gun. Another ran in through the door, where the doctor killed him.

Captain Smollett then told us to go to the other side of the fort. I ran there quickly, and suddenly found one of the pirates, Anderson, in front of me. He was going to attack me with his sword, but Gray saw him and killed him before I was hurt. At the same time, the pirates inside the fences were killed by our guns.

I was safe, but others were not. Poor Joyce and Hunter were dead and Captain Smollett was hurt.

"Have the pirates gone?" asked Captain Smollett weakly.

"Some of them have gone," said Doctor Livesy, "but five of them will never walk again."

"That's good," said Captain Smollett. "There are fewer pirates for us to fight. I know that we can win."

The pirates did not return that day, so we had time to eat and look after the people who were hurt. Doctor Livesy said that Captain Smollett would get better, but he should not walk or even talk if he didn't need to.

In the early afternoon, Doctor Livesy took his hat and a gun, then he put the map in his pocket and left the fort.

"What is he doing?" asked Gray when we saw him walk into the trees. "Is he crazy?"

"The doctor has a plan," I said. "I think he's going to visit Ben Gun."

That afternoon, I thought about where the doctor was. I remembered how good it felt to walk through the trees and on the beach. It was much nicer than staying inside the hot fort. I decided to take some biscuits and a gun. I wanted to go down to the rocks where Ben Gun said there was a boat. When nobody was looking, I quietly left the fort.

I walked quickly towards the east of the island. It was now late afternoon but the sun was still high. As I went nearer to the coast, the wind became stronger and it wasn't as hot. Soon I could see the big waves of the blue sea and then I walked down the beach, feeling happy.

At the end of the beach I climbed a hill. I could see the Hispaniola, with the pirate flag flying in the wind. And I could see Silver in one of the small boats, talking to his men. I could not hear what they said, although I could hear the cry of the parrot, Captain Flint.

The sun was going down and soon there was a mist. I knew that I needed to be quick and find the boat that evening. It took me a long time to walk to the white rock where Ben Gun said his boat was. It was nearly dark when I finally found it inside a tent made of animal skins. It was badly made from old wood and it was very small, although I thought that it would be very fast on water.

Now I had my own plan. I thought that I could go to the Hispaniola in the night and cut the rope to the anchor. So, I ate my biscuits while I waited for it to become dark.

When I stood up later, there was mist everywhere. I picked up the boat and carried it to the beach. In the darkness, I could just see a fire where the pirates were sleeping in the trees, and another distant light from the Hispaniola. I put the small boat into the water, and began my journey to the ship.

I found that the boat was very difficult to steer, but the wind helped me to get to the Hispaniola. Soon, I was next to the big ship and I began cutting the thick anchor rope. I could now hear some of the pirates talking on the ship. One of the men was called Hands, but I did not know the other man. They both seemed angry.

The rope finally broke, and I moved away from the ship. As I was leaving, I saw a light in one of the windows where the sailors were talking. I don't know why, but I decided to look into the window. I saw that Hands and the other pirate were fighting each other.

I sat down in the boat, but I realised that the wind was taking me quickly out to sea. Now it no longer had the anchor rope, the wind was moving the Hispaniola, too! The wind took my boat into large waves. I closed my eyes and waited for a terrible end, dreaming of my home and the Admiral Benbow.

The next thing I knew, it was light and I found myself in the boat on the south-west end of Treasure Island. The sun was up, but I couldn't see it because of the high cliffs on this side of the island. There were big waves hitting the rocks below, and it would be impossible for me to take the boat to the shore.

I remembered that on the map, there was a place called Cape of Woods. This was a place of tall trees and it also had a beach. I would try to get there. The boat sailed well, but when I tried to steer it, the boat hit the waves and I was soon completely wet. I realised, however, that if I lay down in the boat, it found its way through the waves on its own. I used a paddle to steer the boat a little, and it moved very slowly towards the Cape of Woods.

Before you start

- 1 You're going to read a summary of the book Jane Eyre by Charlotte Brontë. What do you know about Charlotte Brontë?
- Read the summary of Jane Eyre quickly. Which phrase best explains what the story is about?
  - A The importance of kindness and honesty.
  - B The importance of having a lot of money.
  - C The importance of working with a rich family.

Jane Eyre

Charlotte Brontë was born in England in 1816. She and her two sisters all became famous authors. Charlotte Brontë's most famous book is Jane Eyre. It was written in 1847.

Jane Eyre was an orphan who lived with her cousins and her wealthy aunt, Mrs Reed. The family was unkind and they did not want Jane to live with them. Jane was sent away to school. Jane was happy to go to Lowood School, but the owner, Mr Brocklehurst, was very cruel, so the students lived unhappy lives.

Finally, cruel Mr Brocklehurst was told to leave the school. Six years later, Jane became a teacher at Lowood School. After two years, Jane decided to apply for a job as a governess. Governesses were often employed by rich families. She started to teach a young French girl called Adèle at a big house called Thornfield Hall. The owner of the house was Mr Rochester. Jane enjoyed her new job and became friends with Mrs Fairfax, the kind housekeeper.

One night, there was a fire at Thornfield Hall. Jane saved Mr Rochester from the fire. He said that the fire was started by a servant called Grace, but Grace did not lose her job. Jane did not understand, but she thought that there was a secret in the house. Jane decided to leave Thornfield Hall, but she could not forget it.

STEM SUBJECTS

Science, technology, engineering and maths were taught in schools long before the invention of the internet. However, we now live in a time when these subjects are more important than ever. This does not mean that music, history, languages and other subjects are not important. However, understanding the so-called STEM subjects can be an important bridge to a good job in the future.

important bridge to a good job in the future.

Many businesses do not have enough people with knowledge of the STEM subjects. For that reason, they are keen to give jobs to young people with these skills.

In the past, STEM subjects were often seen as difficult. To change this idea, many businesses now run open days at which students can try building car engines, using a bike to make electricity, or playing computer games to practise maths.

Schools, too, are helping students to realise that these subjects can be both interesting and fun for boys and girls of all abilities. Schools might not have the equipment to build engines, but many now use different experiments and computers so that students can learn by doing things, and not just by reading a text. This also helps with critical thinking skills which students can use in other subjects.

It is said that 80% of jobs in the future will need students to have skills in the STEM subjects. Of course we will also need artists, musicians, language teachers and other experts, but skills in STEM subjects will help students to become the problem solvers and inventors of the future.

Chapter 9

Jim Hawkins:

It was very hot and I was thirsty. The trees were near now, but before I could feel happy, I saw the Hispaniola sailing around. I was so thirsty that I did not know whether I would be happy or sad if the pirates found me.

I watched the Hispaniola and saw that it went east, then west, then stopped. Then it did the same again and again. Nobody was sailing it! But where were the men? I thought if I could get onto the ship, I could return it to Captain Smollett.

I started to paddle the boat, sometimes hitting waves, but slowly getting closer to the ship. As I got nearer, I saw nobody on the ship. It was so close that I could almost touch it. Suddenly, the wind changed and the ship was almost on top of me. I held onto a rope at the side of the ship just before it hit my little boat, which went under the waves. So, I found myself on the Hispaniola, with no other boat to save me.

I climbed up onto the deck, which seemed empty. The wind blew and the sails moved to the right, and then I saw them: Hands and the man he was fighting. I thought they were both dead, but then Hands said weakly: "Water!"

I went downstairs. The pirates had broken all the cupboard doors when they were looking for the map, and the floor was dirty with sand and mud from the island. I found some water and some food, which I put in my bag, and I went back to give the water to Hands. He drank all of it, very quickly.

"Are you hurt?" I asked him.

"With a doctor, I'll be fine," he said. "And where have you been?"

"Well, I've decided to take the ship, so you must now call me Captain," I said.

He looked at me angrily, but he also looked very ill.

"Also, Mr Hands, we can't have this flag on the ship," I said, and then I went to take down the black pirate flag.

Hands looked at me, and then said, "You'll want to go to the island, won't you, Captain Hawkins? Let's talk."

"That's a good idea," I agreed.

"I don't think you can sail this ship," Hands said. "So if you give me food and drink, and help me with my wound, I'll help you."

"OK," I said, "But I'm not going back to where the ship was before. We're going to the north of the island."

"The north?" he asked. "Of course, I'll sail the ship wherever you want to go!"

So, I agreed to help him. I found a bandage to put on his wound and I also gave him some food and some more water. He soon looked better.

He told me how to sail the ship. It moved quickly along the coast of Treasure Island and soon we could see the rocky north of the island. I felt good. I had water and food. The only thing that worried me was Hands. He looked at me all the time and I knew that he was planning something.

We arrived near the north of the island, and Hands told me how to stop the ship without an anchor. Then we sat down to eat. "Could you go downstairs and get me some more water?" he asked.

I did not think for a minute that Hands was an honest man. He wanted me to leave the deck for a reason, but I did not know what this was. However, I also knew that Hands was not a clever man, so I agreed to go.

I went downstairs, made a lot of noise, then took off my shoes and went quietly to another part of the ship, where I could see him. He was moving slowly and painfully across the deck, where he picked up a knife. He then hid the knife in his jacket and sat down where he was.

Now I knew that he could move, that he had a weapon, and that he planned to hurt me. I did not know what he planned to do after that, but I knew that he could not hurt me until the ship stopped in a safe place near the island.

I went back downstairs, put on my shoes and returned with a bottle of water. Hands was sitting quietly, and took the bottle without saying thank you. Then he said, "Look, the wind has changed. If we move the ship now, we'll be safe."

We had only two miles to go to the shore. It was difficult to get to the correct place on the coast, but Hands told me what to do. This part of the island was full of trees and we could see the wreck of an old ship lying on a flat beach.

"We can stop there, on the beach," said Hands.

I steered the ship slowly onto the beach, where it stopped with a low noise. I was so excited to arrive back at the island that I forgot to watch Hands. I suddenly turned round and there he was, standing with a knife in his hand.

I cried out and he jumped at me. I moved quickly to one side and he fell on the deck. Before he could stand up again, I took a gun from my jacket. However, the gun was wet from my journey and it did not work. I was very angry with myself.

I was surprised at how fast he could move with the wound in his leg. As he ran towards me, I got ready to run away from him again, and he stopped. I remembered a game that I used to play with my friends in Black Hill Cove when one of us would try to catch the other. I was always good at this game and I thought that I could easily run away from this older pirate with a bad leg.

At that moment, a wave hit the Hispaniola. When the ship moved, we both fell over and I nearly fell onto Hands. Before he could stand, I decided to climb up the mast of the ship. Up in the sails, I had time to repair my gun and soon it would be ready to fire again.

Hands looked up at me and saw my plan. He, too, started to climb the sails, but he could only climb slowly because of his bad leg. Before he was near me, I had the gun ready.

"If you come any closer, Mr Hands, you will be dead!"

He stopped and I could see he was thinking about what he could do.

"You're clever, Jim Hawkins," he said. "You've won."

I started to laugh, thinking I was clever, when suddenly he threw something at me. His knife flew through the air and hit me in the shoulder. I was so surprised that, without knowing how, my gun fired. Hands gave a cry and fell down into the sea. I never saw him again.

The knife passed through my shoulder into the wood of the mast, so I could not move. It hurt badly. It took a long time before I could think. When I finally looked at the knife, I saw that it only went through a small piece of skin. It was not difficult to take out.

I climbed back to the deck and found a bandage for my wound. I was now alone on the ship and it was nearly dark. I quickly took down all the sails I could reach and then jumped down into the shallow water. I walked onto the sand, leaving the Hispaniola half on the beach and half in the water.

  - C He went down to the bottom of the ship.
  - D He went to the deck again.

- 5 What happened after Hands threw a knife at Jim?
  - A Jim shot Hands.
  - B The mast fell.
  - C The knife hit him on the shoulder.
  - D A and C

¼ Which is the best description of Hands?

- 1 He is a clever, strong and dangerous man. He persuades Jim to take the Hispaniola to the island and nearly succeeds in hurting Jim.
- 2 He is not very clever and he is not very honest, because he tries to hurt Jim with a knife. He is also strong because he runs after Jim although he has many wounds.
- 3 He is very weak because of his wounds, and he needs a lot of help. However, he is a very good sailor and can take the Hispaniola around the island on his own. He is friendly and tries to help Jim.

Speaking

Work in pairs. Discuss the questions.

- 1 Which of the following adjectives can you use to describe Jim in this chapter? Why?
  - brave
- kind
- clever
- strong
- 2 "Of course, I'll sail the ship wherever you want to go!"

Who was talking?

What direction did Jim want him to take the ship to?

Did he really help Jim? How?

3 "I went downstairs, made a lot of noise, then took off my shoes and went quietly to another part of the ship."

Why does Jim do this?

What does this tell you about Jim?

Writing

dalia'sblog.hello.org

In today's lesson, my teacher brought in different forms of technology from the past. He said, "Find out how these things work, and then give me your feedback."

First, my group were given an old alarm clock. Clocks usually have two or three hands, but this one had an extra red hand. "If you use it correctly, it will make a loud noise," the teacher said. "You must move the red hand to the time at which you want to wake up."

It took us some time to understand how to move it, but finally the alarm worked. It was very loud. If I heard that noise in the morning, I would wake up immediately!

Next, we were asked to find our school on an old map of the city. "You should look for the name of our street in the list on the back of the map," the teacher said. "If you find square G5 on the map, you can see where our school is."

After that, my group were given an old camera and a film. "You must put the film inside the camera," my teacher said. That was really difficult. If we did it wrong, it would damage the film. Fortunately, Hana in my group had helped her father use an old camera and so she knew what to do. Then we clicked the button on the camera lots of times and asked the teacher if we could see the results.

"If you take the camera to a special shop, they will show you the photos," said the teacher. "But you must pay for that, and you must wait for some time until you can see them." We decided not to do this!

In my opinion, some old technology is fun to use, but I'm pleased we have apps on our phones today. I think that most things are a lot easier to do these days! Dalia

Before you start

- What are the advantages and disadvantages of cars?
- In what ways do you think travelling by car will be different in the future?
- 1 Read the article. Why do some people think cars are not safe without drivers?

Driverless cars

People born in ten years from now will probably never learn how to drive. Why? Because our cars won't need drivers and computers will do all the work for us.

There are already driverless cars in many places, but at the moment, they are only being tested. The computers they use must be able to recognise other vehicles, respond to people and things on the road, and know when the car must slow down or stop.

For some people, the idea of a car without a driver is a frightening thought. However, experts say that 90% of accidents are because of mistakes made by people. Often it is because people are talking on their phones or feeling tired. With driverless cars, people are free to send texts, or even sleep, without danger.

The computers in driverless cars should also make it faster to travel around cities because they will choose the best way. They will also cause less pollution because there will be less traffic.

But how safe are these cars? Some people say that they do not work well in bad weather. So far, there have been at least 12 accidents with driverless cars in America (although 11 of these were caused by other cars). So, it might take a long time for people to feel relaxed enough to read a book while they travel.

In the near future, driverless cars will probably become as familiar as the cars of today. In the past, people were also very worried by the idea of cars with engines. In the nineteenth century in England, when cars became popular, the law said that a man had to walk in front of them with a red flag to warn people. The law didn't change until 1896.

Planning for the world of work

In this week's article called What's your job? We're talking to two young professionals about their work.

Ali works in the casualty department at a busy hospital. He says that, despite the long hours and hard work, the job is incredibly rewarding.

become

Why did you choose to a nurse?

Well, I've always enjoyed caring for people, so it seemed a natural thing to do. I decided to apply to nursing college, did my training and then got a job here.

Do you like your job?

Yes, I love it, although it is very stressful at times. People are sometimes frightened, so part of my job is to make them feel calm, which can be hard.

Is there anything you don't enjoy?

Not really, although I work from 7 am till 6 pm every day, which is very tiring.

What skills do you need to be a successful nurse?

You need to be a good communicator – a lot of nursing is about listening to people's worries and explaining what the doctors are going to do. You need to have good medical knowledge too, but understanding and kindness are really important.

Nadia is a scientist and works in a laboratory as a chemist.

Why did you choose to become a scientist?

My best subject at school was chemistry, so I decided to study it at university. After I graduated, I got a two-year contract to work here.

What do you like best about your job?

I'm a very practical person and a lot of my job is about trying to improve products or develop new ones. I enjoy the challenges and the variety of my work.

Are there any challenges in your job?

Of course any job has challenges. It can sometimes be difficult when you're working on several products and each one has a deadline to meet.

What qualifications do you need to be a successful scientist?

Obviously, you need a degree in science, but you also have to be good at problem solving. It's important to be able to communicate your ideas to other people too, and that can be difficult sometimes if they're not scientists.

3 Read the article again and answer the questions.

LANGUAGE REVIEW PAGE 81 ANGUAGE Reported Speech Reported speech: Statements and questions Use reported speech to talk about what someone says:

She said, "It is really an interesting job."

Sami said, "Will you travel to Aswan tomorrow."

She said (that) it was really an interesting job. Sami asked if (whether) I would travel to Aswan the following day.

 We usually move verb tenses one step back (e.g. present to past and past to past perfect.)

 In reported statements, we use told instead of said to. Said remains as it is. That may or may not be included.

He said to me, "I need to speak three languages."

He told me (that) he needed to speak three languages.

Note: We use an object after told.

 In reported questions, we use asked instead of said to and asked, inquired or wanted to know instead of said.

For Yes/No questions, we add if/whether.

Do you like watching TV? She asked (wanted to know) If I liked watching TV.

 In reported speech, we often change pronouns (I/we) according to the meaning. We also change time reference (e.g. Last night the night before, now to then, etc.)

6 Read about Safiya. Then change what she says into reported speech.

My Dream Job

Name: Mohammed

Age: 23

Dream job: Firefighter Skills: You should be:

- a team-player
- reliable
- a good communicator
- flexible

Workplace: Central Cairo

I always wanted to be a firefighter. When I was a little boy, I played with toy fire engines and sometimes watched the fire engines driving down the streets with their sirens sounding. I knew that I wanted to help people and I also knew I wanted a job which wasn't in an office. I'm not great at sitting at a desk and wanted a job that was outside, exciting and had a lot of variety.

Firefighting can be dangerous and it can be very hard work, but I wouldn't do any other job. You must be able to communicate well with your teammates and also be happy to adapt to different situations when necessary.

Do you fancy a career as a firefighter? If you want an exciting job helping the community, come and visit me on Stand 21 at the Jobs Fair.

Date: 23 May Time: 9.00 – 14.00

If you're not interested in firefighting, there are plenty of other jobs to find out about here at the Jobs Fair. Bring your friends and family along – you never know what career is out there for you!

Chapter 10

Jim Hawkins:

At last, I was back on the island. The ship was safe from the pirates, ready for our men to go back to sea. I looked forward to telling my friends about my latest adventure and started to walk back across the island. I remembered the map, so I knew how to return to the place where I had met Ben Gun for the first time.

As I continued, it was very dark. It was difficult for me to find my way, but the light of the moon helped me. When I was near the fort, I went more slowly. I did not want my friends to think I was a pirate. Suddenly, I saw a red light through trees. What was it? Then I saw that there was a big fire next to the fort. I thought that this was unusual, as Captain Smollett was always very careful not to waste wood for the fire.

I quietly went back inside the dark fort, and I was very pleased to hear the men inside talking quietly. However, I realised that they were not good guards because nobody saw me return.

I was about to climb into my bed when I heard the words, "Who is it? Who is it?" I realised that it was Captain Flint, Silver's parrot!

Everyone in the room woke up, and I heard someone call out: "Who's there?" It was Long John Silver! I turned to run away but I ran into a man, who held on to me. I was trapped.

Lesson 5 10

"Bring a torch, Dick," said Silver.

When he returned with a torch, I could see inside the room. I realised that the fort was now full of pirates. Our food was on the table, too, but I could not see any of my friends. Was it possible that they were all dead?

There were five pirates standing in the room. Another pirate lay in bed. He looked badly hurt. Silver looked tired. His parrot was on his shoulder, and his clothes were dirty.

"So, Jim Hawkins!" said Silver. "It's nice of you to visit us. You don't have to stand up for Jim!" he told his men and they lay down on their beds again.

"I knew you were clever," Silver said to me. "I always wanted you to be one of us, because I was like you when I was a boy. Now, you can't go back to your friends because they think you've left them. So, unless you want to stay on your own, you'll have to join us now."

I was pleased to hear that my friends were still alive, but I was not happy to hear that they did not want me anymore.

"Now, you don't have to say yes," said Silver. "I can't tell you what to do."

"I'll answer you," I said, in a weak voice. "First, I want to know where my friends are."

"Yesterday morning," explained Silver, "Dr Livesy came down with a white flag. He told me that the Hispianola was not there any more. We looked round and he was right! The ship was gone! Then the doctor said that we could have the fort. I asked him how many of them were in the fort, and he said there were four, and one of them was hurt. And he said he did not know or care where you were. So here we are. I don't know where they are now."

"Do I have to decide now?" I asked.

"Yes, you have to decide now," said Silver.

"Very well. But there are some things you need to know. First, you have lost your ship, you have lost your treasure and you have lost many of your men. How did you lose them? It was me! I heard your plans on the Hispianola and told Captain Smollett. And I cut the anchor ropes of the ship, and took it to a place that you don't know. I'm not frightened of you! You can kill me if you want, but remember: if you don't kill me, I'll help you at your trial. So, now you have to decide. What will you do with me?"

I stopped talking and all the men looked at me angrily.

"That was the boy who knew Black Dog in Bristol!" said one of the pirates called Morgan. "And he was the boy who got the map from Billy Bones!" Morgan then stood up with a knife.

"Stop!" called Silver. "Do you think that you're the captain now? You do as I say!"

Morgan and the other pirates were quiet.

"I like this boy," Silver continued. "I've never seen a better boy than him. He's more of a man than any of you."

The other pirates did not look happy and they started to talk quietly to each other.

"What are you saying?" said Silver.

"We don't like all of your rules," said one of the pirates. "We're going to talk together without you. You can't stop us."

Soon, all the men left the room, and only Silver and I remained.

"Listen Jim," said Silver. "I don't think that they want me to be the captain any more. But I can look after you, if you look after me."

"Do you mean that they want to kill you?"

"They don't need me now that I don't have the ship. But if you save me, I can save you."

I was surprised to hear this. He was the leader of the gang of pirates, and now he wanted the help of a boy. "I'll do what I can," I told him.

"You're a good boy!" he said. "I know you've got the ship safe somewhere. I don't know how you did it, but you did. Remember, I'm now with Mr Trelawney and his men. So, why did the doctor give me the map, Jim?"

He saw that I was surprised.

"Yes, he gave it to me. He must have a plan, you know. Let's hope it's a good one."

I looked out of the fort and saw the pirates talking in a group. One of the men had some paper and a knife and the others were watching him. Then they started to walk back towards us.

"They're coming!" I told Silver.

"Let them come!" he said.

1 Which five sports have they competed in?

Kung Fu, wheelchair tennis, powerlifting, basketball, athletics

- 2 What have all three athletes done?
- 3 What qualities do these athletes share?

Mahmoud Mohamed Youssef

Mahmoud Mohamed Youssef was a champion in Kung Fu and won many medals in the sport at secondary school. After a terrible car accident, he now has a disability which means he has to use a wheelchair. Mahmoud cannot walk again, but that has not stopped his love of sport. He decided to practise a sport which you can play in a wheelchair and he became very good at wheelchair tennis. He has competed in many international wheelchair tennis competitions and became one of the best wheelchair tennis players in Egypt. That is an amazing achievement, but Mahmoud has not stopped there. He also helps people who are in wheelchairs to stay fit, and gives talks to help other people with disabilities.

Amany Ali

Amany Ali is an Egyptian Paralympic powerlifter who won a bronze medal in the 2016 Paralympic Games in Brazil in 2016. Amany had an illness called polio when she was younger and this affected the muscles in her feet. She did not start powerlifting until she was 20, although she has always loved the sport. She achieved her Paralympic success in Brazil aged 40, and at a very difficult time. Her father died two days before the competition, so she wanted to win the medal for him. She also came fourth in the London Paralympic Games in 2012.

Tanni Grey-Thompson is a British Paralympian wheelchair racer who has a medical condition called spina bifida. She is unable to walk, so she uses a wheelchair to get around. Tanni first competed in the 400 metres and wheelchair basketball at the Paralympics in Seoul in 1988. Tanni won 16 Paralympic medals in athletics events from the 100 metres up to the 800 metres, including 11 gold medals.

Since she retired from athletics in 2004, Tanni has worked for many different organisations which help people, especially disabled people and women, to enjoy the benefits of sports.

Chapter 11

Jim Hawkins:

The pirates walked in through the door. One of the men was holding a piece of paper, and he nervously walked forward to give it to Silver.

Silver read it. "So, I'm not the captain now, is that it?" he said. "Can I have the torch for a minute, so I can read it better?"

"Don't try your tricks on us," said one of the pirates, called George.

"I'm still the captain until you tell me why I shouldn't be," said Silver.

"We can tell you," said George. "First, your plans haven't worked. Second, you let Trelawney and his men leave the fort, and we're sure that they have a plan. Third, you wouldn't let us follow them. And fourth, there's the boy!"

"Is that all?" asked Silver.

"That's enough, isn't it?" said George.

"I'll answer each reason," said Silver. "First, who didn't do what I asked them to do? Anderson, Hands and you, George! If we are arrested when we return to England, it is because of those people! Second, we have a doctor on the island. He's important because some of us are very ill at the moment. The doctor and I came to an agreement so that he would help us. And the boy? He'll be useful if we need to negotiate. And what about reason three? Well, this is why we didn't follow them!" he continued, and showed them the treasure map.

I was very surprised and I did not understand why the doctor had given the map to him. The pirates, however, looked at it with wonder.

"That's Flint's map!" said George. "But how are we to take his treasure home if we don't have a ship?"

"Listen, George," said Silver. "You lost my boat, but I can find the treasure. So, who should be captain now?"

"Silver's right," said Morgan, and the other pirates agreed. Silver was still the captain.

The pirates now seemed happy, except for George. Silver made him guard the fort all night while the other men laughed and sang.

I lay down and thought about Silver. I understood that he was very clever. He knew how to be friends with all the pirates, at the same time as only thinking about himself. He would do and say anything to stay safe.

The next morning, a voice woke us all up (and I mean all of us, even George, the guard). It was Dr Livesy calling us. I was very happy to hear him, but also worried. I had left my friends and now I was with Silver's gang. What would Dr Livesy think?

"Good morning, Doctor," said Silver. "Come in! George will open the door for you. We've got a surprise for you, too!"

"Do you mean Jim?" asked Dr Livesy. He looked surprised as he came near us.

"That's right," said Silver.

The doctor did not speak for some time. Then he said, "Let me see your patients."

He walked into the fort and, with a small nod to me, walked up to the ill pirates. He talked to them as if they were any English patient, although he knew they were all dangerous men.

"I hope you took your medicine?" he said to George.

"Yes, sir, I did," he replied.

"Good, because now I'm a pirate's doctor, I want to keep you all healthy so we can get you back to England for trial," he said.

The pirates looked at each other but they said nothing.

"Dick doesn't feel well," said Morgan.

"Yes, you have malaria. That's what happens when you sleep outside on an island like this. I'm surprised that a clever man like Silver didn't realise."

He gave Dick some medicine, then said, "Now I'd like to talk to the boy, please."

"No!" said George.

"Be quiet!' shouted Silver. "Doctor, you've been kind to help us with our medicine, so you can talk to the boy. But first he must promise not to run away."

I agreed.

"Good. Now you can go outside, doctor, and you can talk to the boy through the window. He can stay inside," said Silver.

When the doctor went outside, the other pirates told Silver that they were not happy that the doctor could talk to me. Silver reminded them they did not know where the treasure was yet. They needed my help, and perhaps the doctor's help as well, until the time was right.

Silver took me to a window where I could talk to the doctor. When he knew the pirates could not hear, he spoke to the doctor, but he sounded different

"Tell the others that I helped you, doctor," he said. "The boy will tell you how I saved him, too. If you help me, you will also help the boy stay safe."

"I think you're frightened!" said Dr Livesy.

"I'm not frightened," said Silver, "but I know you're a good man and you'll see the good in me. Now I'll let you and Jim talk."

Silver walked away and sat down, where he could not hear us.

"Jim, what happened? Why did you leave us when we needed you?" the doctor asked me.

I felt very bad and started to cry. "I'm sorry, doctor! I was wrong. They were going to kill me, but Silver saved me. I must stay here now."

"No," said the doctor. "You can't stay here. One jump and you're out of the fort, and we can run."

"I can't," I said. "Silver trusts me now. But if they hurt me, I will have to tell them where the ship is. Because I got the ship! It's in the north of the island, half on a beach."

"You've got the ship!" said the doctor.

I quickly told him my story.

"You've saved our lives many times on this journey," said the doctor. He then turned to Silver.

"It'll be dangerous to look for that treasure, Silver," he said. "Don't try to find it."

"But I can only save my life and the boy's life if I find it," Silver replied.

"OK, then keep the boy close to you. If you need help, shout. Goodbye, Jim," he said, and left the fort.

"We can look for the treasure now, Jim," said Silver. "You stay close to me. We'll look after each other."

Go back and skim the story. Discuss these questions in pairs.

- 1 Why did Dr Livesy think that Silver was frightened?
- 2 What did Silver plan to do with Jim?

Silas Marner

Silas Marner is a weaver who lives in the village of Raveloe in England. The other people in the village aren't very friendly to Silas because he's new to the village and he lives alone.

Fifteen years earlier, Silas had been engaged to be married to a girl called Sarah. One day, while Silas was taking care of a friend who was sick, a bag of money disappeared from under the friend's bed. A man called William Dane finds the empty bag and Silas's friends decide that he is guilty of stealing the money. Later, William marries Sarah instead, and Silas decides to move to the village of Raveloe. The only thing he cares about is his work as a weaver. All Silas wants to do is work as hard as he can to earn as much money as he can. The richest man in Raveloe, Squire Cass, has two sons: Dunstan and Godfrey. The two sons have their own problems which they hide from their father and they always want to have more money.

One night, a bag of gold is stolen from Silas's house and the whole village joins in to look for it. The local people feel sorry for him and are more friendly to him. Silas is angry and wants to solve the mystery.

  - 2 Squire Cass's son, Godfrey stole Silas's money.
  - 3 Eppie goes to live with Godfrey and his wife.
  - 4 Silas returns to his old village and shows everyone he knew that he didn't steal the gold.
- 3 Discuss the questions about Silas Marner in pairs.
  - 1 How did the people in the village know that Silas was a good person?
  - 2 Why do you think Silas was happier with Eppie in his life?
  - 3 Do you think Silas was right to run away from his village and then come back after so many years? Why?

One evening, Silas returns to his cottage and finds a small girl sleeping near the fireplace. The girl is cold and hungry. Silas thinks something must have happened to her parents. They might have had an accident. He decides to look after her. He calls her Eppie. The other people in the village are surprised, but they think that Silas can't be a bad person because he wants to look after the girl. They also help him.

Silas is now happier. He realises that his new daughter is more important to him than gold. When Eppie is eighteen, Silas's gold is found and returned to him.

It was Dunstan who took the money all those years ago because he did not want to ask his father for money. Godfrey is sorry about what his brother did and thinks Silas must be angry with him. He and his wife offer to look after Eppie. However, Eppie wants to stay with Silas.

Silas decides to return to his old village with Eppie. He wants to prove that he wasn't guilty of stealing all those years earlier. When he arrives, he finds that everything has changed and he can't find anyone that he used to know. Silas feels that he can now forget about this unpleasant part of his history and he returns happily to Raveloe.

Modal verbs of possibility must, can't, might

- Use must + infinitive without to when you are sure about something. The past form is must have + past participle:
  - My friend won the gold medal. He must be happy now. Silas stays up late. He must have work to do.
- Use can't + infinitive without to when you are sure something is not possible. The past form is can't have + past participle:
  - He always does his work seriously. He can't be careless.
  - It can't have been easy to move to another place. She liked her village very much.
- Use might (not) + infinitive without to when you are not sure about something. The past form is might have + past participle:
   Sara is absent. She might be ill; I'm not sure.
  - They're looking under the table and all around. They might have lost something.

I had to read Silas Marner when I was at school and I didn't enjoy it very much then. However, I've just finished reading it again and I liked it a lot more.

It's a long book, although it isn't as long as Eliot's other books. The pace was quite fast and the plot is full of surprises. I couldn't stop reading because I really wanted to know what was going to happen to these wonderful characters. I would recommend this book to anyone who enjoys mystery stories.

Nadia

This is a very interesting story of a sad and lonely man who finds happiness when he adopts a girl. It isn't a page-turner, but I liked the way Eliot used the theme of community. She shows us how some people, like Silas, can feel like they don't belong to their community but events can bring them back into it.

However, I think the novel is too long. The story of Silas Marner might have worked better as a short story rather than a novel.

Chapter 12

Jim Hawkins:

Silver went back to the pirates and said, "I've found out that the doctor's men have the ship. I don't know where it is, but when we find the treasure, we'll find the ship. That will give us the advantage. We'll keep Jim with us before then. When we go home, we can leave him on the island."

The pirates looked happy with this news, but it worried me. What was Silver really planning? When he found the treasure, was he going to help Dr Livesy and Mr Trelawney or these terrible pirates? I did not know.

We all left the fort. The pirates were carrying supplies, spades and their weapons. We then got into the small boats and looked at the map to see where we should go. We took the boats down a river, then we left them and walked through some tall trees. The pirates attached me to Silver with a rope so that I could not escape, and we walked up a hill.

We walked for many hours. It was very hot, but this side of the island was very beautiful, with many flowers and birds. Then we heard a shout. Morgan was looking at something with a frightened face. It was the skeleton of a man lying on the ground.

"The skeleton is pointing north!" said Morgan.

"He is," said Silver. "I think this was one of Flint's games. He killed the man and put him there."

"Flint was a terrible man," said Morgan.

The pirates looked worried and when we continued, they were much quieter. Suddenly, we heard a voice singing from the trees in front of us.

"That sounds like Flint!" said George.

"Flint's dead," said Silver. "It is someone playing a trick."

Then the voice called out, "McGraw, bring me a drink, please!"

"That was what Flint said, just before he died!" said Morgan.

Now the pirates all looked very frightened.

"Listen men," said Silver. "There's a lot of treasure near here. I don't think that was Flint. I think it was Ben Gun."

"I thought he was dead, too, but I'm not frightened of him," said George.

The pirates looked happier and continued walking, although Dick looked tired and ill.

Lesson 5 12

Soon we saw a very tall tree. The tree was on our map and we knew that we were now close to the treasure. I could see that all the pirates were excited. Silver, too, looked different. His eyes looked crazy and dangerous, and I thought he would do anything to go home safely with the treasure.

The pirates all ran to the bottom of the tree. George was in front of them, but he suddenly stopped with a cry.

"Look!" he said.

We saw what he was pointing at. Near the bottom of the tree there was a big hole in the ground. Someone had been there before us. The treasure was gone!

The pirates said nothing, but I could see that Silver was already making a plan.

"Take this, and be ready for trouble," he said quietly, and he gave me a gun.

Then the pirates all jumped into the hole and started digging with their spades. Perhaps there was treasure still there. Morgan found a gold coin and held it up for the others to see.

"One coin? You told us there was seven hundred thousand pounds here, Silver!" shouted George angrily. "You knew about this, didn't you?"

The pirates looked very angry. They climbed out of the other side of the hole, looking dirty and hot.

"Let's get them, men!" said George.

Suddenly, there was the sound of guns from the trees. Two of the pirates fell down and the other three started to run. We were safe! Dr Livesy, Gray and Ben Gun came out from the trees.

"Thank you, doctor," said Silver. "You saved us. And look, it's Ben Gun!"

Ben Gun said hello to Silver, but I could see that he was frightened of him.

As we walked back to the boats, we heard how Ben Gun had helped us. Ben Gun had dug up the treasure and put it in a cave in the north of the island before we arrived on the Hispaniola. Ben Gun told all of this to Dr Livesy, when the doctor gave him some cheese. The doctor then thought of a plan. He gave the map to Silver because he knew it was useless. Then he took his friends up to the cave, where Ben Gun had supplies as well as the treasure.

When he knew that Silver was taking me and the men to look for the treasure, the doctor came back with Ben Gun and Gray. To slow the pirates down, Ben Gun sang a song to frighten them. This had given the others time to wait for the pirates by the hole.

After a few hours, we reached the coast again. Ben Gun helped Gray to destroy one of the boats so that the other pirates could not use it. We took the other boat around the island. After three miles, I was surprised to see the Hispaniola! The wind had blown it from the beach and it was sailing empty on the sea. We helped Gray to get onto the ship so that he could look after it, and we continued to the beach. We then climbed the hill to Ben Gun's cave, where Trelawney was looking after Captain Smollett.

"Silver," Trelawney said when he saw him. "You are a pirate and a thief, but the doctor says that you have helped us. I must thank you."

Silver said nothing, but he smiled.

Inside the big cave, Captain Smollett was lying by a fire. Behind him, I could see lots of coins and gold. It was Flint's treasure.

The next morning, we began to take the treasure down the hill to the boat. It was heavy work, and it took us days to move all the coins and gold.

We knew there were still three pirates on the island. We looked for them all the time, but we did not see them again. We decided to leave the island without them, but we left some food and medicine.

It was a difficult journey back on the Hispaniola because the crew was so small. Captain Smollett lay on his bed and told us what to do. After a few days, we reached a town in South America, where we went to find more people for our crew. When we returned to the Hispaniola later that day, Ben Gun told us that Silver had taken a boat and some money. He was gone, but nobody was sad about that.

With a bigger crew, it was easier to return to Bristol. The treasure helped us all back in England. Captain Smollett stopped working and Gray decided to buy his own ship. Ben Gun quickly spent all of his money.

I have a comfortable life now. I often think about the island and Long John Silver, but I never saw him again.

Reading

- 1 Read the article and answer these questions.
  - 1 What is different for women writers today?
  - 2 What is the same for women writers today as it was in the past?

Women writers

Many of the world's best writers are women. People read Egyptian writers like Aisha Abd al-Rahman and Miral Al Tahawy in different languages all over the world. You might also know Agatha Christie, famous for her mystery novels, and Lucy Maud Montgomery, who wrote the adventure story Anne of Green Gables.

However, it has often been a challenge for women to have their books published. People thought that only men could write good stories. Of course, women have always written very good stories, but in the past, it was almost impossible for women to compete with men. In the past, parents would put pressure on women to get married. If they had a job, it would be something practical like a teacher.

George Eliot, who wrote Silas Marner, was really a woman called Mary Ann Evans. She gave herself a man's name so that people would take her books seriously.

Since that time, people have campaigned for women and men writers to have equal opportunities, and it is now much easier for women. Many women writers have achieved a lot of success. However, even today, many women writers sometimes change their names. They still believe that they will have more success as a man than as a woman. For example, English writer J.K. Rowling said she put J.K. rather than Joanna on her books so more boys would read them.

Judy is a speech therapist in a hospital in Cairo. A speech therapist is someone who helps people who have difficulty speaking publicly.

Why did you choose to become a speech therapist? My mother is a teacher. A child at her school had problems speaking. This made it difficult for her in class, so she also had problems learning. After she saw a speech therapist, she could speak much more clearly. Now, she is one of the best students in her class. When I heard, I decided I wanted to be a speech therapist. What skills do you need to be a speech therapist?

What skills do you need to be a speech therapist? You need a degree and you also need to be caring, reliable and a good communicator.

Can you give us some examples of the kinds of people you see?

Sometimes children find it difficult to talk because they have a disability. I help by developing muscles around their mouth, for example. Other children have no disability, so you need to find out why they are finding it difficult to speak. They might not be very confident.

Is it the same for adults?

Most of the adults have been ill. But there are some who are not very confident too. There is a very famous example of this.

Who is that?

George VI was king of the United Kingdom from 1936 to 1952. When he became king, he found it very difficult to give speeches. So, he asked to see a speech therapist. The therapist, who was an Australian called Lionel Logue, helped him to speak more clearly.

- 7 Were you surprised when Silver escaped from the boat? Why?

Writing

5 Write a review of Treasure Island. Think about the following:

- the story: what happens?
- the main characters: what are they like?
- the moral of the story: what do we learn?
- the parts of the story you liked or did not like, and why.

should/shouldn't, must/mustn't

should/shouldn't

• use should/shouldn't + infinitive for suggestions and advice:

You should play tennis. You'll enjoy it!

You shouldn't eat sweets. They're bad for your teeth.

must/mustn't

• use must/mustn't + infinitive for a rule, law, warm invitation and strong advice:

You mustn't talk in the library. You must wash your hands before you eat.

You must come and have dinner with us.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
I must buy some bread.	I must to buy some bread.	Do not use to with the infinitive after must or should .

Zero, first and second conditionals

Zero conditional

Statements and negative statements

If/When	present	present
If	I feel tired,	I go to bed. (It's my habit.)
When	I am happy,	/ smile.
When	he is unhappy,	he does not (doesn't) smile.

Subject	present	if/when + present
1	go to bed	if I feel tired.
Не	does not (doesn't) smile	when he is unhappy.

NOTE:

For all the conditionals we add a comma when the part of the sentence starting with if or when is at the beginning of the sentence:

If I play basketball, I feel happy.

When the part of the sentence starting with if or when is not at the beginning of the sentence, you do not need a comma:

I feel happy if I play basketball.

Wh- questions

What do you do if you feel tired?

Use of the zero conditional

• to describe facts and actions which are usually true. In these sentences, if = when:

If ice gets hot, it melts.

When it rains, the streets get wet.

First conditional

Statements and negative statements

If	present	will + infinitive
If	you work hard,	you will (you 'll ) do well at school.
If	you do not (don't) work hard,	you will not (won't) do very well.

Subject	ect will + present if + present
You	will (you'll) do well at school	if you work hard.
You	will not (won't) do very well	if you don't work hard.

Wh- questions

What	will you do	if you pass (do not pass) the exam?
------	-------------	-------------------------------------

Use of the first conditional

• to talk about events that we think are possible or probable in the future: If you go to London, you will see red buses.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
If you go to Giza, you will see the Pyramids.	If you will go to Giza, you will see the Pyramids.	In first conditional sentences, the verb after if is in the present simple.

Second conditional

Statements and negative statements

If	past simple	would + infinitive
If	she was / were taller ,	she would (she'd) be in the school team.
If	you did not (didn't) work hard,	you would not (wouldn't) do very well.

If	would + infinitive	if + past simple
She	would (She'd) be in the school team	if she was / were taller.
You	would not (wouldn't) do very well	if you did not (didn't) work hard.

Wh- questions

И	/hat	would you do	if you didn't pass the exam?
---	------	--------------	------------------------------

Use of the second conditional

to talk about events that are unlikely to happen:
 If he was / were very rich, he would buy an aeroplane.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
If he was French, he would	If he would be French, he	In second conditional sentences, the understand this book.	would understand this book.	verb after if is in the past simple.

Past passive

• To form the passive, use the verb to be in the same tense as the active verb and add the past participle:

Active	Passive
Charlotte Brontë wrote Jane Eyre.	Jane Eyre was written by Charlotte Brontë.
Mrs Reed locked Jane in the Blue Room	Jane was locked in the Blue Room
They had offered her a job.	The job had been offered to her.

Use of the passive

• to talk about the action rather than the agent (who did the action). Many sentences with passive verbs do not need an agent because we do not know or do not need to know who did the action, or because it is not important who did it. If we do want to include the agent, we use the preposition by.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
Jane Eyre was written by Charlotte Brontë.	Jane Eyre written by Charlotte Brontë.	The passive is formed with the verb $be + the$ past participle of the main verb $(+by + agent if needed)$ .

Past simple and past perfect

Statements and negative statements

We use the past perfect to refer to an action or situation before the main verb in the past simple:

Jane had gone to school before	she moved to her aunt's house.
Jane had not (hadn't) gone to school before	she moved to her aunt's house.

Jane went to Thornfield Hall after	they had offered her a job there.
Jane did not (didn't) go to Thornfield Hall after	they had offered her a job there.

• When two actions happen one after the other, we can use the past perfect for the action that happened first:

Wh- questions

Where had Jane gone to school before	she moved to her aunt's house?
--	---------------------------------------

Use of the past perfect

- to show which of two past actions happened first (note the later action is in the past simple): Jane was locked in the Red Room, because she had had a fight.
- to describe a situation before a past action:
   Jane left her aunt's house where she had lived for years.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
When he asked to marry her, he had been married.	When he asked to marry her, he was been married.	The past perfect is formed with had + a past participle verb form.
She left the house where she had lived for many years.	She had left the house where she lived for many years.	When two actions are described in the past, use the past perfect to describe the earlier action.

Statements

We use reported speech to talk about what someone says without using their words:

She said (that) it was a really interesting story.

• Verb tenses often change when direct speech is turned into reported speech. We usually move verb tenses one step back, e.g. present to past, past to past perfect, etc.:

Direct speech	Reported speech (that is optional)
"I usually walk to work," said Safiya.	Safiya said (that) she usually walked to work.
"I am going to be a flight attendant," said Sarah.	Sarah said (that) she was going to be a flight attendant.
"I ran to the interview," said Safiya.	Safiya said (that) she had run to the interview.
"I have always driven to the city," said Ahmed.	Ahmed said (that) he had always driven to the city.
"I will walk to the job fair," said Sarah.	Sarah said (that) she would walk to the job fair.
"I can solve the problem" said Omar.	Omar said (that) he could solve the problem.

Pronouns also change when direct speech is turned into reported speech:

Direct speech	Reported speech
"I can walk to work with you ," said Ahmed.	Ahmed said (that) he could walk to work with me .
" We often work together," said Sarah and Safiya.	Sarah and Safiya said (that) they often work together.

• Use if/whether to report yes/no questions and change word order:

Direct speech	Reported speech
Can I help you?	He asked if/whether he could help me .

• Use an object pronoun after tell:

	Direct speech	Reported speech
"You need to speak three languages,"		He told me (that) I needed to speak three said Ahmed.	languages.

Common errors

		Incorrect reported speech	Explanation
			Sarah said (that) I could walk to school with you.	First and second person pronouns change in reported speech.

Defining relative clauses

 Defining relative clauses give us important or necessary information about people, things or places. They tell us about the person, thing or place:

The man who/that lives next door is a teacher. This is the photo which/that shows our school. The town where I was born is in the south of Egypt.

 Defining relative clauses do not use commas around the clause.

NOTE:

 In formal written English, whom can be used instead of who after prepositions in sentences like this:

The person from whom I received the letter is the manager of the company.

Use who in informal English, like this:
 The person who I received the letter from is the manager of the company.

Non-defining relative clauses

• Non-defining relative clauses give us more information about a person or a thing:

Omar, who is an activist, lives next door.

This photo, which I took, shows our school.

Aswan, which is in the south of Egypt, is where I was born.

• In non-defining relative clauses, use commas around the clause.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
London, which is the capital of Britain, is in the south of England.	London, who is the capital of Britain, is in the south of England.	The relative pronoun who refers to people. Which refers to things or places.
Hatem's uncle, who is a doctor, lives in Cairo.	Hatem's uncle, who he is a doctor, lives in Cairo.	Relative pronouns replace pronouns like he .

Present: must/can't/might be

Example	The speaker thinks that
He must be rich.	he is definitely rich.
She can't be Egyptian. She doesn't speak Arabic.	she is definitely not Egyptian.
They might be English. They speak English well.	it is possible that they are English.

Past: must/can't/might have + past participle

Example	The speaker thinks that
Where is my textbook? I must have lost it.	he definitely lost his/her textbook.
She only started five minutes ago. She can't have finished yet.	she definitely has not finished (it's too early).
Nabil wasn't at school yesterday. He might have been sick.	it's possible that Nabil was sick yesterday.

Common errors

Correct	Incorrect	Explanation
Ali can't be sad. He has won a gold medal.	Ali mustn't be sad. He has won a gold medal.	In deduction, the negative form of must be is can't be .

  - 1 Name 4 things you can do to keep your home clean.
  - 2 Suggest a title for this article.
  - 3 What other things can you suggest to keep your home clean?

Writing

Write a paragraph about how you help to keep your home clean. Include answers to the questions above.

REMEMBER!

Review your paragraph for clear ideas, correct spelling, punctation and grammar.

Most people like to keep their homes clean, but there are many places that we don't think about and so they become full of dirt and bacteria.

Research shows that the deep cuts in chopping boards are often a home for bacteria because people don't clean them properly. Bacteria often move around our homes when we touch things, so phones, tablets and computer keyboards often have a lot of bacteria on them, too. However, bacteria really love warm, wet places and so your kitchen sponge probably has more bacteria than anything else in your home.

Experts say that it's most important to wash our hands regularly. If we touch animals, we should wash our hands, and we need to use a tissue when we sneeze to stop the bacteria spreading in the air. They suggest using plastic chopping boards and giving them an extra clean once a week. We should replace kitchen sponges every two weeks, and we can buy special cleaners for phones, tablets and computers.

Subject: Help!

Hi Amir,

How are you? I hope you had a good weekend at the beach. Samy told me about the argument you had with Hany. I think it would be a good idea to say that you are sorry for getting angry. Stay calm and explain that he should ask you before he borrows your things. I'm sure he will realise that he made a mistake and he will say sorry too. Why don't you talk to him tomorrow? I suggest talking to him in the morning because he is usually busy on Sunday afternoons.

Now I hope you can help me with my problem. Do you remember that I was planning to clean my house at the weekend? Well, I was busy and I forgot about it! The problem is that my parents are coming home tomorrow and the house is really dirty. There's dust everywhere and there's a strange smell in the kitchen!

What should I do? Help!

Regards,

Maher

Reading

Read the text and choose the correct answer.

- A The writer thinks that new inventions always cause problems
- B The article says that the advantages of inventions are more important than the disadvantages.
- C The writer believes that it takes time to understand if a new invention is good or bad.

Is technology always a good thing?

This question has been asked for many years but has anyone found an answer?

On the one hand, there are always dangers with new technology. More than two thousand years ago, a Greek philosopher called Socrates was worried that writing things down would stop students using their memories. In the 16th century, following the invention of the printing press, a Swiss philosopher called Conrad Gessner thought that books would give people too much information. And in the 20th century, many people thought that the radio would make it difficult for students to think about their studies.

On the other hand, technology usually offers some advantages. Books and writing are seen as positive things today and most people think that their advantages are more important than any disadvantages.

In conclusion, perhaps it takes many years before we can see clearly whether new technology is good or bad.

Read the text again and answer the questions.

- 1 Do you think Socrates would like modern computers? Why/Why not?
- 2 What do you think Conrad Gessner would say about the internet?
- 3 Do you think that smartphones help students with their studies? Why/Why not?

b	Randa:	I don't use GPS, so that's OK. But can you imagine life without the internet?
С	Randa:	Yes. I have to admit that 's true. I never share my personal information online. And now my brother won't even turn on his phone.
d	Hala:	That seems extreme. I think we should be fine if we are careful. I would argue that we need to think carefully about the information we share.
е	Hala:	No, I guess not. On the one hand , it's very useful for many things. But on the other hand , we should be careful about what we do with our personal details and who we give them to.
f	Hala:	Yes, I understand why he thinks that. The documentary said internet companies are collecting information about us. For example , they know where we go because they can find that information is in our GPS.
g	Randa:	No, I didn't but my brother told me about it this morning. Now he's worried that his phone is collecting information about him.

Read the conversation again in the right order and answer the questions.

1 When did Randa watch the documentary?

a Last night. b This morning. c She didn't watch it.

2 What is Randa's brother worried about?

a People are following him.

b His phone is collecting information. c He doesn't use GPS.

3 Why can't Hala imagine life without the internet?

a It's very useful.

b She likes sharing information.

c She likes shopping online.

4 What won't Randa do?

a Buy a new phone.

b Share personal information online. c Use her brother's phone.

5 Which is the best summary of how Hala feels about technology?

a We should relax and enjoy it.

b We should stop using it.

Reading

Read a letter that Charlotte Brontë wrote to her friend Ellen Nussey. Do you think Charlotte likes her new job? Why/Why not?

Dear Ellen,

I told you some time ago that I wanted to get a good job. I am glad to say that I have found one as governess and I am quite happy.

The house is not very large but it is very comfortable and the gardens are huge. Although I earn less money than in my previous job, I am working with kind, friendly people. I have two pupils: an eight-year-old girl and a six-year-old boy.

My job as a governess can be very difficult because children have so much energy. I just hope I will not become ill trying to keep them under control and make them happy.

Well, I must continue with my work. I hope to see you soon.

Kind regards,

Charlotte

3 Read the letter again. Answer these questions.

- 1 Who will Charlotte be teaching in her new job? Charlotte will be teaching two children.
- 2 What is Charlotte worried about in her new job?
- 3 Do you think it is important to work with kind, friendly people? Why/Why not?
- 4 Do you think Charlotte will succeed in her new job? Why or why not?

Reading

Read this article about making mistakes and put the paragraphs in the correct order.

Failure is necessary

A Sometimes failure can make people work harder and do things better. As a consequence, they appreciate success more because it hasn't been easy for them. For instance, when football players lose a match, they are sad but they learn how to improve and do better next time.

B People say that it is impossible to succeed without failure and even the most successful people make mistakes. As well as this, many people believe in the importance of learning from your mistakes.

C In conclusion, although it is possible to have success without failure, from my point of view, it is better to fail sometimes in order to appreciate success more.

D On the other hand, success can make you feel positively about what you are doing and it can give you a reason to keep trying. In addition, many people prefer to forget their mistakes so they can have good memories about the past.

Getting good quality information from the internet

How often do you use the internet for school projects and to help with your homework? Some students don't think about where information comes from online. This can be risky because there is a lot of information on the internet which is false. It is important to remember to use websites that you can trust.

You should also think about when the information on the website was written. When you are researching history, the information can be old but it can still be accurate. However, if you are looking for something about science and technology or the latest news, you should check the date on the website. It is important to look for the most recent information.

Paying attention to the website address is also helpful. If the

Read the description in Exercise 2 again and answer the questions.

Reading

Read the description. Do you think that being a weaver was a good job? Why?/Why not?

The story of Silas Marner begins in the English countryside in the early years of the nineteenth century. There were only a few weavers in the countryside, and they usually looked pale and thin compared to the people who worked in the fields. These people didn't trust anyone who was clever and they didn't like anyone who had seen the world outside their small village. Weavers had a special skill and they usually came from large towns, so they often lived lonely lives.

2	Where did the story of Silas Marner begin? In the English countryside Were there many weavers in the countryside? Did weavers live a happy life? How?
	What did weavers usually look like?  Do you think the villagers were right to avoid people who had a different job?

Cleopatra VII died in around 30 BCE. The famous writer, Plutarch, described the beautiful place where she was buried. However, although archaeologists have found on the island in the seventeenth much older pharaohs, nobody knows where Cleopatra lies today. In 2010, a famous archaeologist called Zahi Hawass found many things from Cleopatra's time at Taposiris Magna, near Alexandria, but he did not find Cleopatra.

Oak Island is on the east coast of Canada. People believe that a pirate called Captain William Kidd stole some treasure and buried it century. He wanted to go back to the island to get his treasure, but he never returned. Since that time, hundreds of people have tried to find the treasure, without success.

Loch Ness is a very deep lake in the north of Scotland. Since the seventh century, people have seen a large, strange animal that lives in the deep water of the lake. They call it the Loch Ness Monster. Some people have even taken photos of a distant shape that could be the monster. However. scientists have studied the lake and they have not found anything unusual. But people still believe that something lives in the lake.

Speaking

Look at these four explanations for the second mystery. Which do you agree with? Why/Why not?

- Someone must have found the treasure. They might not have told anyone about it because they might have wanted to keep the money for themselves.
- Captain William Kidd must have returned to get the treasure. He can't have told anyone about this.
- I think the money might never have been there. The people on the island might have told this story so that more tourists would visit.
- Captain William Kidd must have hidden the money really well. It might take years to find it.

Careers Advice for students

Human Resources staff report that although qualifications are important, skills are often what they are most interested in when they want to employ young people. These include practical skills and personal qualities.

They are interested in young people who can stay calm, work well in a team, and accept criticism. You can improve in these areas by playing in a sports team or doing group activities at school.

Other important qualities include being punctual, flexible and having good communication skills.

Technology is also important in many jobs, so make sure that you can use a variety of devices and software programs.

An ability to organise things is also useful. You can develop good planning skills while you are still at school by organising a timetable for your studies. And you can also help to organise events at school or with your family.

When you go to a job interview, be prepared to talk about how you have learned your skills and remember to give some examples of situations that have helped you.

- 1 What are Human Resources staff most interested in when they recruit young people?
  - A appearance
  - B personality
  - C social studies
  - D skills
- 2 Which activity helps you learn to be a good team member?
  - A being a good leader
  - B doing a project with other students
  - C criticizing other students
  - D being a good trainer
- 3 You will make a good impression if you are not ...
  - A late.
  - B well prepared.
  - C able to use a computer.
  - D careful.
- 4 Preparation for a job interview should include ...
  - A thinking of some new skills you want to learn.
  - B thinking about how you learned your skills.
  - C giving examples of situations which you have enjoyed.
  - D asking for a high salary.
- 5 Why do you think it is useful to be flexible?
- 6 Why do you think that most jobs need more than qualifications?
- 7 What kind of courses do you think will be most useful in the future? Why?

7	Find and correct the mistakes in the following sentences.

Online Education

Online Education allows students to attend classes without going to a school building. The online community means students can share their opinions and discuss what they are learning with other students and their teachers. Courses use advanced video technology so that students can speak, make notes on the screen and write on a shared whiteboard with other students.

There are a variety of reasons for choosing an online education. Some students live in remote areas, and it is difficult to travel long distances every day. Others have been the victims of bullying at school. The flexibility of this way of learning means that it also appeals to students who have special needs, and students who are unable to go to a traditional school.

An advantage of online education is that students study at their own pace and place and they can choose the best time of day to study. All you need is a computer with a high speed connection to the internet and an ability to learn.

1	Online education is
	A a way of traditional learning B a modern school building
	C a group of students who work together D a way of learning using technology
2	Which of these students might prefer to learn online?
	A a bully B a disabled student
	C a student who likes travelling D a student with no connection to the internet
3	Which of these are important if you want to learn online?
	A working quickly B being able to fix a computer
	C having a fast internet connection D continuing to go to school
4	What do you think are the disadvantages of this way of learning?
5	Would you like to study without going to a school building? Why/Why not?
6	Do you think it is possible to learn without a teacher? Why/Why not?

Some people think that shop assistants just help people to choose what to buy, but the job can be more interesting than that.

Adam Osman works for a fashion store and he loves his job. His job includes advising customers and taking payments, as well as creating displays. Adam says that a good shop assistant enjoys communicating with people.

"You spend all day talking to people, so you need to be confident, friendly and able to make people feel comfortable. You also have to be honest. Nobody wants to hear that they look terrible in a piece of clothing, but they like it when you can suggest something else which looks better on them. A benefit of this job is being able to buy some items in your shop for less money."

If you are thinking of a career working in shops, there are usually management training programmes and other extra courses available for staff, such as language skills if you work in a tourist area.

New Hello English for Secondary Schools course has been developed by a team of experts, using modern methodology and approaches.

The main aim of the course is to equip students with the necessary language, thinking and study skills to communicate effectively in English. It guides students to gain the necessary experience and confidence to apply these skills both inside and outside the classroom and beyond school in their current and future lives.

- New Hello English for Secondary Schools complies with the Ministry of Education framework and standards documentation.
- Interesting cross-curricular topics are presented through realistic situations.
- Each lesson integrates several of the four skills (reading, writing, listening and speaking), linked by a topic.
- New language is taught in context, so students develop learning skills which they can use throughout their lives.
- There is a focus on preparing students for the modern world as future employees and citizens so that they can deal effectively with the challenges of the modern world.
- Life skills, Values and Issues (such as communication, problemsolving and critical thinking skills, and an awareness of technology) are integrated throughout the course.
- Audio and video materials to accompany the course can be accessed on the Egyptian Knowledge Bank.
- All audio materials are recorded by native English speakers and provide excellent pronunciation models.
- The course maintains a distinct Egyptian focus, with an emphasis on Egypt's place within Africa and the wider world.
